INTERNATIONAL PATENT APPLICATION NO. PCT/FI2003/000529
APPLICANT: NOKIA CORPORATION ET AL.

Dear Sirs,

We enclose herewith the Demand for the above-mentioned international application.

Simultaneously the applicant wishes to avail himself of the provisions of Art. 19 PCT to make minor amendments to the claims. Substantive amendments consist of augmenting original claims 1, 2 and 19 to additionally mention "pilot carriers", as well as adding a new claim 14 which requires the pilot carriers to be scattered pilot carriers. Additionally an unnecessary recitation of "at least" was deleted from what originally was claim 20, and original claims 14-23 were renumbered as claims 15-24 respectively, due to the addition of a new claim 14.

Support for the explicit recitation of pilot carriers is readily found in the paragraph beginning on line 23 of oage 8 in the application as filed. The same paragraph also offers support for the fact that the pilots are scattered pilots, which is the subject of the added new claim 14.

The reason for introducing these amendments to the claims is the applicant's wish to further differentiate the invention as claimed from the teachings of the reference publications WO 01/69878 A1 and EP 0 837 582, which do not contain any reference to using pilot carriers as the basis for defining an energy in the received signal. Quite to the contrary, WO 01/69878 A1 suggests using the unused carriers for power estimation, which is not comparable to using pilot carriers due to the completely different signal content of the two.

The applicant wants the international preliminary examination to be based on the amended claims enclosed in this letter.

IP2005 Rec'd PCT/PTO 30 DEC 2005

The fee for the preliminary examination and the handling fee have been paid by bank transfer, according to the enclosed Fee calculation sheet.

Yours faithfully,
